Yearbook Update

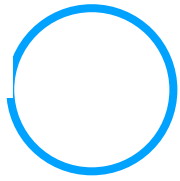

TO BE,
OR NOT
TO BE,

that is the question

...or maybe, to yearbook or NOT to yearbook?

There is no easy way to make a yearbook for this unusual year, with no in-school events in sight, and most parents and staff members stretched to capacity. So we need to determine whether or not we should create one.

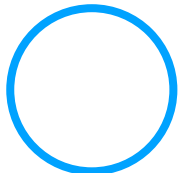

Yearbook Update

PROS

- We've already sold five books
 - It would be nice to not have a missing year in our catalog of yearbooks.
 - This is a remarkable time, so some families may want a reminder.

CONS

- It is not a fundraiser for the school, so this is primarily a labor of love.
 - It would take a good deal of buy-in from parents, staff, and a team of creative yearbook collaborators to create content.
 - Staff members and parents (including myself) are spread thin right now.

Yearbook Update

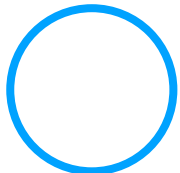

A MODEST PROPOSAL

I propose we create a survey to gauge interest in both purchasing, and actively participating in, the yearbook this year.

If there isn't resounding interest in buying a yearbook, or helping to create a yearbook, this year. We'll have our answer.

In order to pursue creating a yearbook this year, it will require help in the following areas:

- A plan to acquire portraits of each student, whether by zoom class screen captures, in-person photography, or parental involvement. (This will probably be the most difficult part to assemble.)
 - Parental and staff buy-in to provide photos of their students. (This has been difficult in past years, even with many, many in-person photo-worthy occasions, field-trips, and performances.)
 - A dedicated creative time to create imaginative content, and assist with writing and layouts (ie: what do students' home desks look like? How can we show the community support this year? Drive-by activities? Mask Fashion? Can we do a Flat Stanley concept with the HH tiger?)

THANK YOU
